ons. While the case has been booked at Gotri police station, the investigation has been dubbed and handed over to JP Road police station, which first listed the racket last week.

On Monday, police arrested the administrator of a Covid-19 hospital in Gorwa, Deepak Tiwari (24), who helped insurance agent, Pravin Parmar, lay hands on Covid-19 reports of positive patients and tamper with them by fraudulently changing the names of the patients on the reports to benefit claimants of the insurance company.

Tiwari's involvement in the case was revealed during the interrogations of Parmar and Dr Anil Patel, who is the administrator of other private Covid-19 hospital Chhani, where the police first listed the racket in January.

Deputy Commissioner of Police, Zone 2, Dr Karanraj Vaghela told this newspaper, since both police stations come under the 'D' division of Vadodara Police, the first case is registered under JP Road

Information Technology Act, as they have forged documents electronically."

"We are also ascertaining if Dr Anil Patel, who runs the private Covid-19 empanelled hospital in Chhani, has a genuine registration from the Medical Council of India (MCI), since he has completed his MBBS in Russia," he further said.

Vaghela added that police are yet to ascertain the exact number of insurance claims made on the basis of the forged documents. "We only arrested Tiwari on Monday and will now investigate his devices, as he has emerged as the link to the whole scam. He tampered with PDFs of the reports of genuine positive patients and changed their names," Vaghela said.

Based on the complaint filed by Dr Bijal Shah, who runs a private laboratory, Vadodara Police had initiated an investigation into the racket on January 8, which had led to the arrest of four persons. The arrested accused include a Godhra-based couple, who forged negative conducted at Shah's laboratory came out negative in December last year, but the couple went on to claim medical insurance from a private company.

The Godhra-based couple also forged documents to prove that they were admitted to a private hospital in Vadodara for Covid-19 treatment. They further tampered with Shah's pathology laboratory report with the help of another private laboratory, to show they had tested positive for the virus, via an agent Pravin Parmar.

Vadodara city police had arrested the couple, Dr Anil Patel of the private hospital — where they were shown as admitted
